Tippecanoe Valley High School
8345 S State Rd. 19 N.
Akron, IN 46590

... it all began on a Friday ...

Right:

Vroom, vroom . . .

The ride to school on that first day,
what an experience.

Below:

The dreaded ID cards, now as familiar
to us as underwear.

A Brand New Year . . .

Shea Bailey, what a ham!!!

Krystal Kirk eagerly rushes to class.

F.E.S., Yoshimi Tomoyose steadfastly heading for the door.

Mike Greenfield, oh my. Look out, Ladies!!!

Year after year the students of Valley enter those oh-so-welcoming doors, ready to face that first day of school, eager to get right down into that homework! This, the first school year into the true millenium, is no different. Students pour into the doors: nervous freshmen, apathetic sophmores, mischievous juniors, and arrogant seniors. Everyone lost in their own worries for the year 2000-2001. The freshmen must make it through that first year without mishap; the sophmores are just in a hurry to get to May; juniors are starting to feel that rush of power, and seniors know that this is the end of childhood and the beginning of a new sort of reality.

August 2000 brought with it many new experiences, the least of which were the incoming freshmen. There were the new lockers (not too big of a deal), the schedule hysteria (don't want to discuss that), and of course we mustn't forget the infamous ID cards. What a trip they were.

I am sure that the memories of this year will be just as unforgettable as those of the past. Let's see what you've got for us this time, Valley.

Maybe you girls should watch the road and not the camera.

Homecoming week is one of fun and excitement. When Valley students were polled tons of them said they had a "Rockin'" good time! From the Spirit Days to Jello-o Wrestling, from Powderpuff Football to Olympics, from Hall Decorating to the Dance there were plenty of good times to be had by all! Hey, we even made the front page with the crazy bon fire! Not to mention the homecoming game that knocked the Norsemen off of their horses! Valley school spirit was high and the Viking students felt like a family.

Hall decorating was pretty cool, even though we got yelled at for putting hundreds of staples into the wall.

- Brad Ellenwood, Senior

I think that with as little money as it took to put on the dance we should have one once a month, because it gives us something to do around friends and most importantly we aren't out causing trouble.

-Josh Hemingway, Junior

Elissa Haywood and Yoshimi Tomoyose: became friends in August when Yoshimi first arrived here. and they have had the opportunity to become really close. When Elissa's grandfather passed away it brought them even closer. They had to depend on one another to make it through the tough times. They are able to share their feelings with each other and have great conversations. Yoshimi likes to go shopping with Elissa as well. One thing is for sure, when Yoshimi returns home their friendship will remain strong.

Marc Nellans and Ryan Reed: A beautiful friendship blossomed in 4th grade due to a mutual love of LEGOS. As the story goes the two boys were chasing the same girl at recess one day and they discovered they also shared the same opinion about which toy was tops. They have been there for each other ever since. When Marc's mom was in the hospital Ryan was there to comfort him. Likewise when Ryan's father had a heart attack Marc was there to console him.

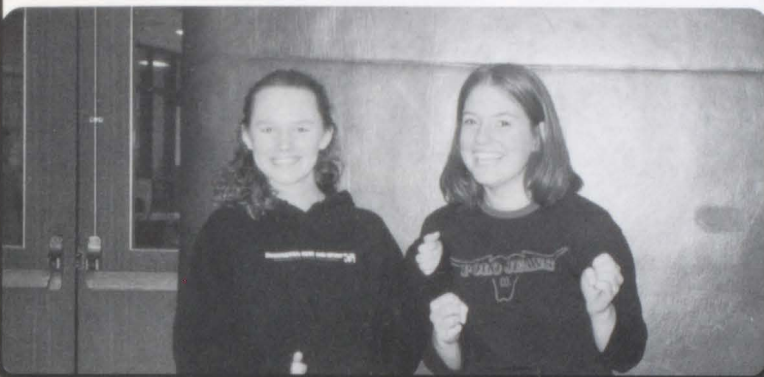

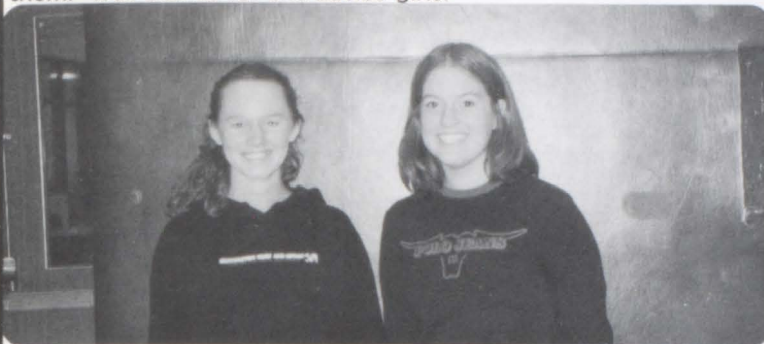

From Akron to Mentone

THE TIES THAT BIND, FRIENDS FOREVER

Amber Drudge, Frances Kantner, Megan McFadden, and Maggie Rock: Frances, Megan, and Maggie have been friends "since forever" and Amber appeared one day (ok, so it was like a week at church camp) like she had always been there. Frances, Megan, and Maggie even got the same earrings when they got their ears pierced just weeks apart from each other in Kindergarten. That is when they knew they would be friends forever. During Middle School Maggie drifted away from the other two and found Amber (who she had known due to swimming). Then during High School they all found each other again. At church camp they have shared many late night conversations that have helped them remain close. LPHG Forever!

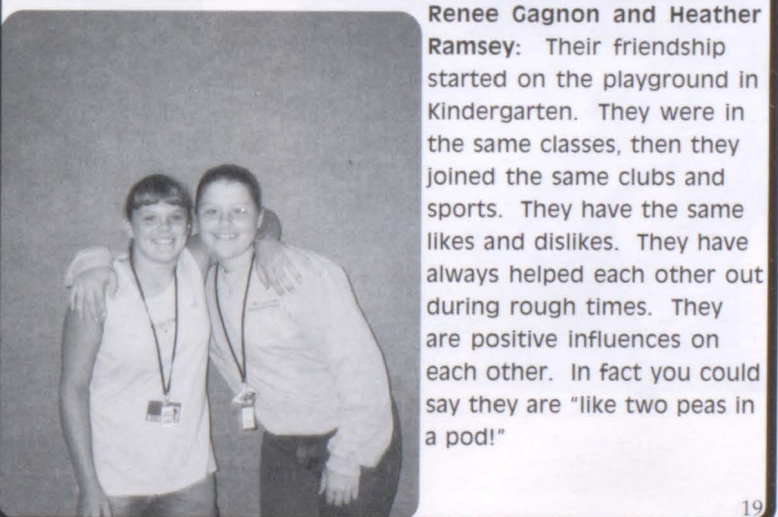

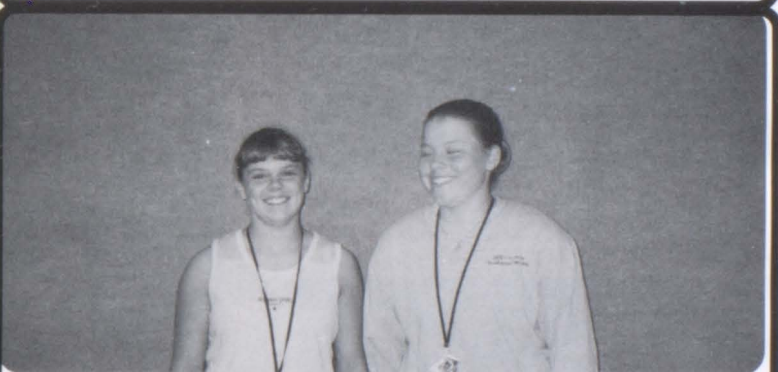

Emily Carter and Amy Wildermuth: Emily and Amy knew they would be forever friends when Amy's dad said that they would be the best of friends. These girls say the thing that has brought them closest is their wild and crazy road trips. They say you can learn a lot about a person when you are in a car with them for a whole day. Since these girls live for their road trips they thought they would leave you with some road trip tips. 1) Get to know the locals they are handy when you get lost. 2) Don't take a convertible, your maps won't last long if you do. 3) Don't have a set destination that way if you never make it you won't be disappointed. 4) Make sure to have plenty of coffee before leaving and bring plenty of food for along the way. 5) Stay away from toll roads, there aren't any malls on them. Well thanks for the advice girls!

Megan Harding and Lanae Weaver: These girls became best buds in 7th grade because they spent tons of time together in the same classes. High school in general has been a significant time in their friendship, they have had some really tough times, but they've stuck by each other through it all. When Lanae got in a wreck earlier this year Megan was right there beside her to help her through the healing process and keep her spirits high. They can talk about anything with each other. They have lost friends and boyfriends, but they have stuck by each other.

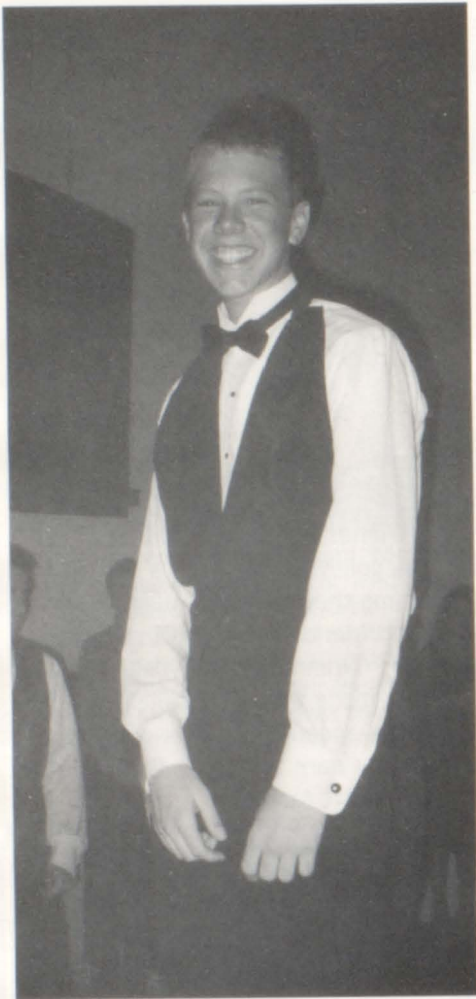

Kyleigh Gast and Angela Weller: They knew each other in elementary school, but they did not realize until later that they were meant to be the greatest friends. They were always together because they both play volleyball and tennis and they both swim as well. During that time they saw how much they had in common, so they became good friends. They have participated in so many things together (swimming, volleyball, tennis, and different clubs), and that has made their friendship even stronger. They are always there to encourage one another and listen to each other's problems. They are both very thankful that they have a good friend that does that for them.

Renee Gagnon and Heather Ramsey: Their friendship started on the playground in Kindergarten. They were in the same classes, then they joined the same clubs and sports. They have the same likes and dislikes. They have always helped each other out during rough times. They are positive influences on each other. In fact you could say they are "like two peas in a pod!"

We are proud of you and your accomplishments. Most of all we are overjoyed that you have kept Jesus Christ number one
in your life.
Remember: Jeremiah 29:11-13

It seems like just yesterday you were happiest playing in the cabinets with pots and pans and on the floor with boxes. You're all grown now and how proud we are to realize the gentleman that you've become. May you be blessed and always travel down
the path of righteousness.

*Mom's Angel, Daddy's Dear
First a smile, then a tear
Life has really now begun
Today our darling is just one!*

*You're eighteen.
You're quite a woman now
with lots of plans to make.
The future bright and promising,
is there for you to take.
We Love You -Mom & Dad*

16 years later and you still have that mischievous smile! We are so very proud of all your accomplishments!
Mom & Dad

Congratulations, David. We all finally made it. Your family is so proud of you. We hope that your future will be better and brighter now that you have made it through high school. You will always have our love and support in whatever you decide to do.

Love, Mom and Dad

Derek,
It has been a long, hard road, but we are proud of how you hung in there.
We knew you could do it!

The Rocks

SHE-RA Princess of Power

You are a remarkable young woman,
and we are so proud of you.
Love, Mom & Dad

It seems like only yesterday
You were our little boy
And now it's graduation time
You filled our hearts with joy
The time goes by so quickly
Though we may think it's slow
Soon yesterdays and tomorrows
Are today before we know.
Now, on this special day of yours
We'll watch and understand
The little boy that we once knew
Has turned into a man.

We Love You, Rhyan,
And we're all very proud of you.

Smith-Leininger House

Built in 1915, remodeled around 1950 to include a side entrance for a second floor apartment, in 1993 the staircase was reopened and the side door re-bricked. The hardwood floors with the exception of the main floor, southeast bedroom are original but in the process of being refinished. The bricks from the fireplace are the same as those used to construct the Carnegie Library next door.

The Trades class began with the new construction of the two-car, 1 1/2 story garage and the demolition of the back porch. All the windows were replaced by the Trades class as weather permitted. A new construction sun room was built off the kitchen and has a full basement. The Trades class added a bedroom, foyer, living area, bathroom, and utility room to the main basement and rebuilt the stairs to the basement. The entire house was rewired, the duct work was replaced, and the plumbing was also redone. Tile and drywall were all completed by the Building Trades class.

This Volleyball season was very succesful for the Vikings. The team improved a lot over the course of the season. For Lynette Wilcox the hardest moment was when Jamie Doud went down after twisting her ankle in the North Miami match. The hardest matches were against North Miami, Rochester, and Southwood. The most exciting one was the match against Northfield.

Her funniest memory was when they did gymnastics.

Lynette's advice to future players is to have fun while they play, and keep working hard to achieve their goals.

Cross Country

Each person has his or her own memories of this year's cross-country season. Many of the girls enjoyed surprising Coach Screeton with their pink shirts. Anyone who went to state to cheer for the wonderful Laura had a magnificent time. For Miss Lash, her best memory was when she was told she was going to state.

Every individual had a tough meet. For some it was T.R.C., when it was cold and rainy. Some just didn't like any meets with large hills!

All had a meet that they thought was the most fun. Some liked T.R.C. because of the rain (isn't that ironic!). Some liked New Prairie for the course and the amount of people who were there. One of the Saras (we won't say which, but it's probably both) liked the one in which they (Sara and Sarah) were disqualified for linking arms at the end.

The entire team thought it was a great season. Everyone did wonderfully. Next year is our turn at Regionals!

The advice from seniors to next year's freshmen is to practice, work hard, and last but certainly not least, HAVE FUN!

Yearbook Staff

When you look at your yearbook what do you see? Memories? friends? maybe even family, right? When I look at this yearbook, I see something else. I see the time and the patience put into every page, the frustration and determination to get things just right. I see what I've been seeing all year long from the 2000-2001 Valley yearbook staff.

Above: See how our sponsor joins in all of this madness?

Above: Yeartech is better than chocolate! To think we used to have to do all of these pages by hand.

Above: For the last school year, staff members have faithfully attended Monday and Tuesday yearbook meetings. They've spent an unknown amount of time making this beautiful yearbook just for you. I am so proud to have been the editor for such a loyal staff. These ladies above were great. I enjoyed working with them and the other staffers on this book, and I hope that all of you can truly appreciate the hard work that each of them all put into every picture and caption. Thanks, guys!

LUTHERAN
HEALTH
NETWORK

Get well soon.

At Woodlawn, our people are at the heart of what

The People.

we do. We're your friends, your neighbors, your relatives, who live, shop and raise our children in the same places you do. And while we live and work here, we've each made a commitment to you and your good health. Because at whatever stage we enter your life, you'll find us to be dedicated professionals, focused on keeping you, your family and our community healthy.

The Technology.

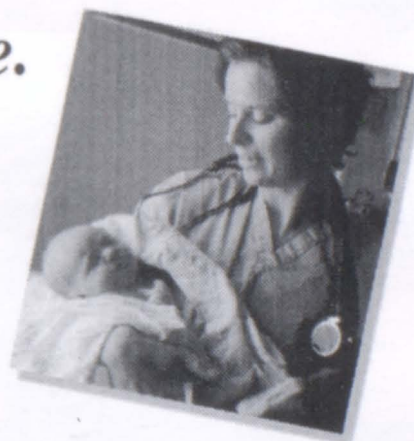

It's no secret that in today's healthcare world, technology is constantly changing. As newer and more advanced healthcare technology becomes available, we evaluate and assess its application to meet our community's needs. For example, with our new C.T. Scanner, used to detect abnormalities in the head, chest and abdominal organs, we can reconstruct images significantly faster than with previous scanners and reduce test times by more than half.

Everyone talks about quality healthcare, but

Right here at home.

it's an empty slogan if it isn't administered by committed healthcare professionals, people you know, people who genuinely care, using the most advanced technology available. And you know the best part of all?

It's all right here at home. Woodlawn Hospital.

President Clinton makes a last-ditch effort to broker a Middle East peace deal before his term ends in January 2001 by drafting a plan for leaders of both Israel and Palestine to review. Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak and Palestinian Yasser Arafat agree to review Clinton's proposal, but no deal is signed before month's end.
